

Portals are used for certain application access, provisioning, support, and reporting. It is not required for all use cases.